

JF Provident Greater China

January 2012

Fund objectives

- To maximise its long-term capital appreciation in Hong Kong dollar terms through a collective investment scheme managed by the Manager or its Connected Persons.
- The underlying assets of the Trust will be invested primarily in securities of companies based or operating principally in the Greater China Region and the majority of these companies will be listed on a stock exchange in Hong Kong or Taiwan.

Investor profile

- Employees aiming for potentially high returns to build real wealth over the long term and who can afford exposure to an above-average level of risk.
- Suitable age group: below 45 (or more than 10 years to retirement date).

Fund Manager's report

Portfolio Review: Greater China equities rose in December, as coordinated central bank easing led to a strong rally on the first trading day of the month. The MSCI Taiwan was the strongest performer of the three markets, driven by both better retail sales data in the U.S., a top export market for the technology-heavy index, as well as equity market intervention by a government seeking to quell volatility ahead of its presidential election in January. The MSCI China and Hong Kong indices were comparatively weaker as the Shanghai index continued its slide, a result of investor disappointment with a lack of accelerated policy easing in the face of a slowdown.

Outlook: We expect a brighter outlook for markets in the near-term on an easing of global fears, given brighter macro data and more steps towards a liquidity response to the European debt crisis. We continue to expect inflation to ease in China and thus, pave the way for a looser policy environment. Valuations are cheap particularly within the MSCI China, with the stock market touching Global Financial Crisis levels. We continue to increase positions in Chinese banks and certain cheap global cyclical at the expense of financials in Hong Kong. Otherwise, the core strategies remain unchanged as we expect recovery from sectors that underperformed in this crisis-like atmosphere that started in September 2011.
